The Power of Reading in Third Grade

Berry Hill Third Graders used the text Rain School by James Rumford to kick off their Power of Reading Unit. This unit identifies the importance of reading around the world and how children access books in other countries. Students learned how to interact with each other in partnerships and small groups using conversation norms. Using a Close Reading Strategy, students learned many new vocabulary words. Third graders also learned how to capture "the gist" of the story by gathering important details.
